Says No Union Loan On List by Beck

Senate Probers Say Testimony Proves Teamster Chief Stole Money

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators heard new testimony today which, they said, proves that Teamster Union President Dave Beck stole more than $32,000 from his union instead of "borrowing" it.

A. M. Burke, head of the mort-gage loan department of Occidental Life Insurance Co. of Los Angeles, said a financial statement Beck made in 1951 listed no such loan from his union.

Burke said Beck listed assets of $1,052,715. He said the only liability listed was a $234,000 loan from the Security First National Bank of Seattle.

Burke made the financial ac-counting in applying for a $273,000 loan from Burke's company, which wrote Teamster Union in-surance.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the Senate Labor Rackets Com-mittee said that the 1951 financial statement was made "during the period when Beck was taking $300,000 from the union, which he now claims was a loan."

Statement Returned to Beck

Kennedy said that since Beck himself listed no loan from his union, "it would therefore appear that the money was stolen rather than borrowed."

The new testimony about Beck's personal finances came amid these other developments:

—AFL-CIO President George Meany met with a committee of Teamster Union vice presidents to discuss the scandal-scarred union's "problems in general." One matter expected to come up was a

No Deterrent to Murder

House Committee Votes 13-6 For Six Year Moratorium on Death Sentences

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—The House Judiciary Committee voted in fa-vor of ending the death penalty in Illinois for a six year trial period after hearing famed prison warden Joseph E. Ragen and a death row chaplain testify it was no deterrent to murder.

The committee voted 13-6 in fa-vor of the six year moratorium on death sentences Tuesday, but then sent the bill to a sub-com-mittee for one week to work out amendments. Another formal vote will be required after the bill is amended.

Ragen, warden of Joliet State-ville prison, told the committee "I can't see where the death pen-

Officers Return Five Youths To Michigan

Police Chief George Burgoyne of Buchanan, Mich., and Sgt. Robert Rinker of the Berrien County (Mich.) Sheriff's department re-turned to Michigan today with five youths wanted by the Senate com-mittee, Norman Gessert, cousin of Beck's wife.

Burke told the committee he no longer has Beck's financial state-ment—it was suddenly returned, at Beck's urgent request, some-time in 1953. Kennedy said this was about the time income tax in-vestigators got on Beck's trail.

Nancy Edwards, 7, Injured When Struck by Auto

Nancy Edwards, seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Oglesby of 506 North Cherry street, was injured seriously about 4:30 p. m. yesterday when hit by an auto on North Main street a short distance south of Walnut.

The little girl, a second grade pupil at Logan school, was taken to the Harrisburg hospital, where examination revealed her right leg was broken below the hip, she suffered a fractured pelvis, a fractured foot, an eye injury, a gash under the chin, a bump on the right side of the head and cigarettes were obtained.

Burgoyne said all five of the youths had juvenile records in Michigan.

Officer Sweat today said that he had received word from Indiana that Vogelsang had been arrested at Kokomo, Ind., for taking a motor vehicle April 12, 1957, that Roberts had been arrested at Seymour, Ind., April 6, for petty larceny, but that disposition of the case was available.

He said he learned the tax stamps had been issued to whole-salers at Indianapolis, Michigan City and East Chicago, but that no further check was available due to the fact that the wholesalers can sell in any part of the state.

Beck At the Bar

Editorial — BY BRUCE BIASSET

When Dave Beck, boss of the Teamsters' Union, faces the Senate Rackets Committee he invokes the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions on his handling of union finances. But he is entering a phase now where that defense may not help him too much.

A federal grand jury has indicted him on charges of seeking to evade $56,000 in personal income taxes on his 1950 income, as well as helping to falsify the tax return of a union subsidiary.

The grand jury that handed down this indictment is continuing its inquiry into Beck's activities, and hints have been dropped that there may be other charges pertaining to his income in other more recent years.

Beck of course must stand trial on the present indictment and any additional that may be handed down.

In a courtroom no less than in a Senate hearing room, a man is not required to testify against himself. The Constitution protects him, and our system of justice demands that he be considered innocent unless proven guilty by the evidence of others.

But in Beck's income tax case, he is noted, much evidence will indeed be presented. His defense can hardly be silence. He must seek to refute the charges that government prosecutors will level against him. Failure to do so may be interpreted by the court as virtual acknowledgement of guilt.

So Beck, who from the outset of public disclosures of his odd financial manipulations has maintained an elaborate defiance of authority, is face to face at last with the hard realities of justice. From these there can be no hiding.

Why Insurance Rates Rise

If you wonder what's behind the move when your insurance rates go up as they frequently do these days, you don't have to look far for the answer.

Accidents are mounting both in number and cost. Last year they cost Americans some 11 billion dollars, with about half that sum resulting from automobile mishaps. And some of the 1956 bills still haven't been paid.

Some insurance companies, and especially fire and casualty companies, suffer stiff losses when heavy claims are presented in great volume. Their profits dwindle and they may wind up in the red.

When this happens, with the approval of the various state insurance commissioners, the companies in general figure out new insurance rates to cover probable future losses and give them a reasonable profit.

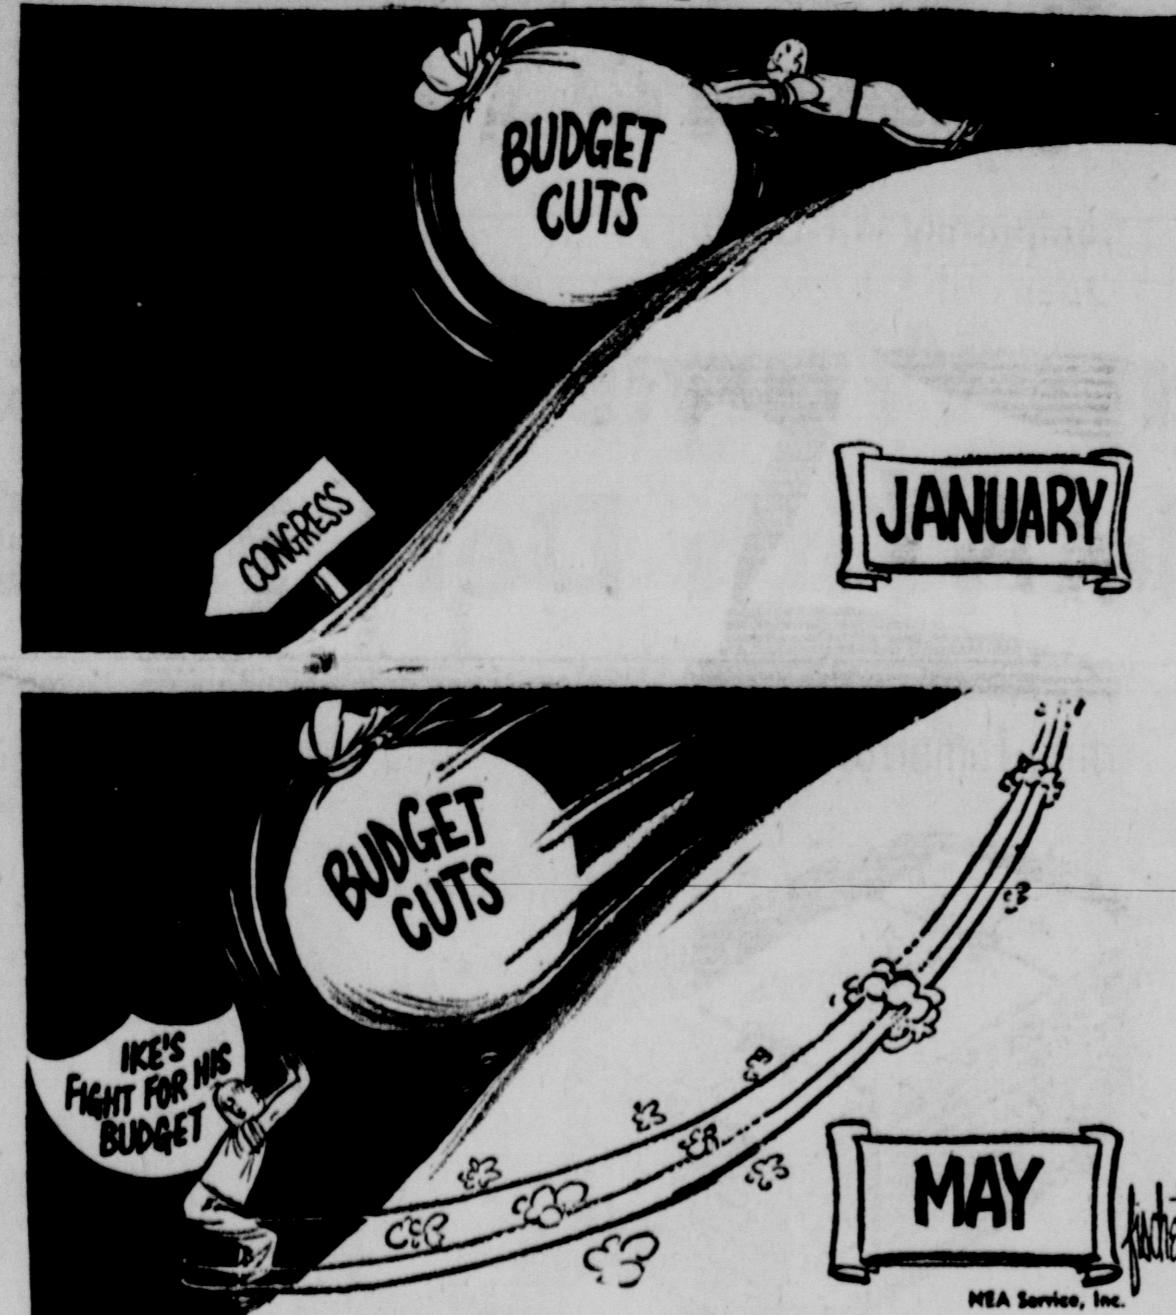

Since they are serving an expanding nation, they must expand to meet the country's insurance needs, and this takes capital. They can't attract it if their earnings are poor.

Some idea of what's going on can be gained from a quick look at one phase of the problem—rising automobile repair costs. They rose 15 per cent in the year 1955-56 and are up another seven per cent on 1957 car models.

In 1948 you could repair a typical damaged rear fender for $25.75. On a 1957 model it will cost you $156.50. A broken windshield in 1948 could be fixed for $15.90. Today a plain one costs $107 and a tinted job $125.75.

Put together costs like these with the 1956 figure of 10 million motor accidents and you have quite a story. And it tends to take the mystery out of rising insurance rates.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Big Business Battles Over Guided Missiles; General Motors, Bell Telephone And Douglas Aircraft Dominate Missiles; Army Colonel Faces Court Martial For Making These Charges.

WASHINGTON. — If you read the full text of the Colonel John Nickerson secret memo on guided missiles you can easily understand why his court martial has been postponed and why he may never be brought to trial.

The Defense Department has the same kind of a bear by the tail that Herbert Hoover had when he ordered the court martial of General Smedley Butler of the Marine Corps for criticizing Mussolini. The Butler court martial would have developed into a trial of Mussolini and was finally dropped.

Likewise, the court martial of Colonel Nickerson is certain to develop into a trial of Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson and his former firm, General Motors, together with Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and his former firm, Bell Telephone.

What Nickerson does, in effect, is accuse them of favoring their own companies by putting guided missile development in the hands of the Air Force, plus General Motors, Bell Telephone, and Douglas Aircraft, at the same time boycotting the Army which does business with General Motors' rival, Chrysler.

Col. Nickerson also argued that lumping guided missile development under the Air Force in southern California put too many defense plants in that key area as a target to Russian bombers. The Army's work near Huntsville, Ala., where he is a top executive, he claimed, was less accessible to enemy bombers.

BIG BUSINESS VS. GOVERNMENT

The Nickerson memo, which came into my hands but was seized by the Defense Department when we did them the courtesy of asking for security guidance, contains these significant passages regarding the battle of big business to control development of the intermediate range missile—the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force's Thor:

"A. C. Sparkplug Division of General Motors has the inertial guidance responsibility for Thor. The development of the Jupiter guidance system is done by ABMA (Army Ballistic Missile Agency) at Huntsville. Production of guidance components is by the Ford instrument division of Sperry-Rand."

"The Army radio-guidance system developed by JP (Jet Propulsion Laboratory of Army) is also superior to that being developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories for Thor."

There follows some technical information which I have censored for fear it might aid a potential enemy.

"Discontinuance of the Army missile" continues the secret memo, "will result in the concentration of the following programs in the Bell-Douglas combination—Nike I, Nike B, Nike II, IRBM (intermediate range ballistic missile of 1500 miles), and ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile of 5000 miles range). This is too much missile concentration in one combination. Should one add the Sage and Caesar programs at Bell and the Navy and Air Forces aircraft contracts at Douglas—the over-concentration is obviously serious."

"Furthermore, discontinuance of the Army IRBM would result in an even greater concentration of development in southern California. This concentration is already the source of considerable worry from a defense standpoint. The southeastern United States, on the other hand, is strategically a sound location of a missile program.

"It should be noted that the aircraft industry and particularly the Douglas Aircraft company openly oppose the development of any missile by a government agency. High officials of the Douglas company have stated that Douglas is paying particular attention of the possibilities of killing off the operation at Huntsville, Alabama.

"It is expected that the Wilson memorandum (which killed the Army's missile work) has been heavily influenced by lobbying by this company and by the Bell Telephone company. It is noted that both competing missiles to this combination, i. e., Jupiter and Talos, are jeopardized by the Wilson memorandum."

NAVY RELATIONS BETTER

The Nickerson memo then discusses the Army's missile relationship with the Navy:

"Technical coordination with the Navy to meet shipboard requirements in the Jupiter program has been excellent. Army and Navy engineers and scientists collaborated closely to complete the design of a system that would be an effective weapon at sea."

"The Navy preference for a solid propellant missile, voiced from the beginning of the program, resulted in assignment to the Navy of a solid propulsion development aimed toward a second generation weapon to replace the 1960 Jupiter aboard ship."

At this point I have cut some dates and figures which might permit an enemy to know when a submarine missile will be combat ready.

"The division of responsibility for liquid and solid fuel propulsion between the Army and Navy was bad management, but was the only condition under which the Navy would agree to remain in partnership with the Army. Actually, the Army's Redstone-JPL solid propellant team was the only experienced and the best qualified team to undertake the solid development.

"As the months passed it became apparent that the solid propellant development threatened to divide the Army-Navy partnership. Navy enthusiasm and optimism to better the (censored by DP) objective date caused them to place demands for guidance assistance that would jeopardize the (censored by DP) date for the liquid Jupiter.

ARMY OUT IN COLD

"It seems that no service is going to permit the Army to develop for that service a weapon system of the importance of Jupiter. This fact, coupled with the power of the aircraft industry influence on Air Force policy and the absence of Army operational responsibility, will insure serious attraction of the Von Braun team at Huntsville, Alabama."

Colonel Nickerson was referring to the German scientist who developed the first guided missile for Hitler, who has been working since the war for the Army.

"The loss of the Jupiter program would destroy the basis for the leadership of the Army ballistic missile agency by removing the challenging development work required to keep their development team together under civil service conditions."

"The key scientists of the ABMA team can generally command double their current salaries with industry. They remain with the Army because the Army

These facts mean that the denial to the Army of an operational requirement for intermediate range ballistic missiles will result in serious attrition to the best ballistic missile team in the United States at time when the development of a ballistic missile is of the utmost national urgency.

At SIU to Feature
Composer, Wife

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Visitors to the Southern Illinois University campus on "University Day," May 19, may take advantage of an unusual musical treat: an all-Roy Harris concert featuring the famous Walden String Quartet and the composer's equally famous wife, Pianist Johanna Harris.

The 4 p. m. recital in Shryock Auditorium, free to the public, will include Harris' "Third String Quartet," "Piano Sonata," and "Piano Quintet." The same program will be given the following night on the University of Illinois campus.

A Canadian child prodigy. Mrs. Harris became a member of the Juilliard Graduate School of Music faculty at the age of 15. At 17 she was signed by the CBS network for a two-year series of Sunday programs, and at 20 won a scholarship at Berlin's Hochschule. She was an established artist when she married Harris at 22, and since has become known as a leading interpreter of Debussy's piano works, all of which she is now recording on the M-G-M label.

The Walden Quartet, resident musicians at the University of Illinois, is one of the nation's top chamber groups. They appeared at the 1955 SIU Fine Arts Festival.

Harris, distinguished visiting professor of music at Southern, is ranked as America's foremost native composer. He is the author of more than 100 major works, including seven symphonies.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Meek Foresees State Income Tax
Unless Sales Loopholes Plugged

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Joseph Meek, Western Springs, head of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, foresees the possibility of a state income tax or another boost in the retail sales tax two years from now unless the present sales levy is amended to plug "up alarming drains." He estimates inequities in the tax are costing the state $50 million.

Meek, a persuasive person in dealing with lawmakers, feels that it is up to leaders of the Assembly to pass bills which would catch what he calls "the man of means" but who now escapes much of the sales tax. He listed three items which he said should be the subject for action by the General Assembly. He said they are as follows:

(1) Taxation of tangible personal property made on special order-example. A tailor-made suit escapes the tax-ready made suits are taxed; (2) taxation of tangible personal property bought under a construction contract-example. No tax is collected on material used by a contractor to build a garage. A man of moderate means who builds his own must pay the tax; and

(3) Taxation of tangible personal property used in conjunction with repairs merchandise-example. The silk lining used in repair of a coat lining which would be taxable if sold separately by the yard. Meek said if the sales levy was amended to cover these items it would go a long way toward preventing a further hike in the tax or stall off an income tax.

Illinois special events for this month include: Memorial Regatta at Quincy; a Magnolia Festival at Cairo; Armed Forces Day at Savanna on May 17; Lilac Festival at Lombard; Centennial parades at Cobden and Dongola; and Memorial Day parades at Carbondale and Edwardsville. Next month there will be a fun fair at Decatur, a trade exposition at Alton, and a passion play at Zion.

The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois has released statistics showing what it claims pending legislation to raise the county corporate tax rate to 12 1/2c per $100 each $100 of assessed valuation could mean. In Sangamon county, for instance, it says it would mean a 66 2/3 per cent increase. The rate is now 7 1/2c per each $100 of assessed valuation.

For other counties, the federation said, the pending bill means in many cases bigger increases. Madison county, for instance, it said, now has a corporate rate of 0.57 as compared with the proposed .125. Other county rates include: St. Clair .084, Kane .063, Wayne .078, Edwards .095, White .046, Saline .063, Will .053, Montgomery .088, Bureau .067, Adams .111, Rock Island .071, Whiteside .08, and DuPage .046.

When the bill to provide the death penalty for convicted rapists was up in the Senate last week, the vote of its two women members went in different directions. Sen. Miss Lillian E. Schlagenauf, R., Quincy, and a former assistant attorney general, voted against it but Sen. Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, R., Downers Grove, Illinois' first woman lawmaker voted for it. Miss Schlagenauf said that "being a woman, I feel no punishment is too great for such a crime but if this becomes a law the criminal will kill the woman knowing her testimony could send him to the chair." Mrs. O'Neill said "I never voted for the death penalty before but I am afraid if this bill is defeated women might get the impression we didn't consider rape a crime of importance."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D. (Written for NEA Service)

Idols originally were symbols to remind people of the Supreme Being. People are inclined to depend on their senses for comprehension and understanding. They could not see nor feel nor have God, but they could touch and see the symbolic idols.

Many worshipers transferred their worship to the idols and forgot the unseen God. We criticize these folk of old who worshiped man-made fashion bits of stone and wood. We call them heathens, idol worshipers and defilers of true religion.

Today there are many who put money, material possessions and heroes above the unseen God. They will do anything to possess material things or to receive the recognition of misguiding human leaders.

We need to clean out the temples of our souls. We must remove the idols which we worship from our lives, and find faith in the true Creator who is not material, not sensory, not limited. He alone is real and cannot be destroyed.

For other counties, the federation said, the pending bill means in many cases bigger increases. Madison county, for instance, it said, now has a corporate rate of 0.57 as compared with the proposed .125. Other county rates include: St. Clair .084, Kane .063, Wayne .078, Edwards .095, White .046, Saline .063, Will .053, Montgomery .088, Bureau .067, Adams .111, Rock Island .071, Whiteside .08, and DuPage .046.

Two New Trends In Pension Plans

CHICAGO — Two important trends in pension-planning have developed recently, according to a study made by Commerce Clearing House.

These were cited as planning for workers to keep pension credits if they change employers, and relating actual benefits paid to the cost of living so pensions will be adequate when received.

New plans are increasing the "vesting rights," under which workers can take their pension benefits to new jobs, CCH said. Unions are developing plans covering these rights in whole industries or areas.

Cost-of-living efforts include the investment of pension funds in mutual fund shares on the theory that they will rise or fall in value roughly with changes in the cost of living.

Another method, CCH said, is to divide pension funds between basic stable investments and common stocks. The latter would be expected to fluctuate with a change in the economy.

HORNS OF A DILEMMA—This adventurous goat had no trouble horns in on what probably seemed to be greener pastures on the other side of fence of a farm in Dixon, Mo. His trouble came when he tried to get his head back in his own back yard. Each time, the horns became caught on the wire, and the fence really got his "goat" until help arrived.

State Receives Mental Retarded Project Grant

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Health Department today announced the U. S. Childrens Bureau has authorized a grant of $138,196 to the state for a three-year project for mentally retarded children.

The money will be used at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago to establish a mental retardation clinic for specialized services for retarded children, particularly in the pre-school age group.

The clinic will be under direction of Dr. John A. Bigler, chief of the hospital staff and professor of pediatrics at Northwestern University.

The grant is the first to be given Illinois under a one-million-dollar program launched by Congress in 1956.

Senate Passes Bill to Tighten Up 'Conflict of Interest' Law

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The Senate today passed, 49-2, a bill to tighten up the "conflict of interest" law which came to recent attention in the state contract dealings of Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh (R-Champaign).

The House, meanwhile, passed a bill to repeal the 1955 law affecting Union Electric Co., St. Louis, to which former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge was connected by a lobbyist.

The House also defeated a Democratic alternative to Gov. William G. Stratton's fixed speed limit law proposal.

The new conflict of interest bill would provide fines up to $2,500 and states specifically that a state official or legislator, his wife or children, may not hold state contracts.

The bill specifically defines what contracts may not be held, and provides exemptions for contracts obtained before an official is elected provided they are completed within six months after election.

The present law provides only a $1,000 fine and says only that state officials and legislators may not deal "directly or indirectly" in state contracts.

Applies to Future Only

The new bill now goes to the House.

Clabaugh has been charged in Circuit Court here with a violation of the present law in connection with an $890 contract for window screens at Anna State Hospital.

Rep. William G. Clark (D-Chicago) sponsored the bill to repeal the 1955 law which allowed Union Electric Co. to dissolve its Illinois subsidiary and thus escape Illinois franchise fees. The bill passed, 308-14, and goes to the Senate.

The bill, however, only closed the door to such future moves by other utilities and did not apply retroactively to Union Electric and other utilities which took advantage of the 1955 law.

Clark said Union Electric now

Three Killed, 67 Hurt in Coal Mines in April

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Coal mine accidents killed three persons and caused 67 injuries during April, the Illinois Mines and Minerals Department reported today.

April coal production totaled 8,749,045 tons — 132,396 tons less than in March but 125,003 tons more than was produced in April, 1955.

The April production was reported by 127 mines in 32 counties. The mines employed 11,756 men compared with 11,888 working in March.

Christian County led the producers with 510,151 tons, followed by Fulton with 479,153 and Williamson with 456,843.

The mining deaths occurred in Christian, Saline and Montgomery counties.

moratorium a commission from the staff of the University of Illinois is appointed to keep statistics on the murder rate.

In other Tuesday action, the House beat down a Democratic move to add $2 million dollars for mental hospitals to Gov. William G. Stratton's proposed $48 million dollar bond issue for construction of state colleges and universities and welfare institutions.

Rep. Samuel H. Shapiro (D-Kanakas) introduced the $2 million dollar amendment, but was defeated 91-84.

The bond issue bill now provides $1 million dollars for welfare institutions, $6 million for the University of Illinois, $1 million for Southern Illinois University and $4 million for the four state teachers colleges.

Recommend Holiday Change

The House Revenue Committee voted approval of an administration bill to apply tax multipliers at the township rather than the county level. The bill is aimed at school districts which allegedly claim an unfair share of state school aid by reason of having too low a township tax assessment rate. The amount of taxes collected by a township could be increased by application of a higher multiplier.

The Senate Banking Committee recommended passage of a series of bills aimed at creating additional three-day holidays each year. The bills, which have already passed the House, would require observance of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, Memorial Day, July 4th, Columbus Day and Veterans Day on the Mondays closest to the actual date of the holiday.

Christmas and New Year's day also would be observed on Mondays when they fall on Sunday.

Pay raise bills for top state executives under the governor were introduced in the Senate. The bills would increase the salaries of department directors from $12,000 to $15,000 a year; assistant directors from $8,000 to $12,000; and the state police chief from $8,000 to $10,000; plus a number of other increases.

Rules Parents Cannot Take Four Children to Russia

CHICAGO (UPI) — A judge today ruled that the four Kozmin boys, whose parents want to take them to Russia, will remain in this country for the present.

Judge John J. Clayton, who decided that the three older boys were wards of the court in 1953, said the case was being "continued without change."

"We cannot release these children until we are sure that the parents are capable and qualified to take care of them," Clayton said. "We have no such assurance at this time."

However, Clayton said he would permit the three older children who are not now living with their parents to return to them "for an indefinite period" after the present school term.

The children cannot leave the country because they are wards of the court, the judge explained, and he said he does not expect the parents to leave without them.

The boys, all English-speaking, are the sons of George Kozmin, 54, a former mental patient at the Chicago State Hospital who is considered sane but has "emotional problems."

The Russian embassy has demanded that the entire Kozmin family be allowed to return to Russia. George and his wife, Nabedja, both applied for passports to their homeland more than a year ago.

Mountain climbers reached the main wreckage yesterday. They reported that all 62 persons aboard the North Star apparently died instantly.

Most of the debris was capped in a snow-clad, rocky ledge above a sheer cliff at the 7,600-foot level of the jagged mountain. Danger to the climbers who would have to carry out the mangled bodies was the main problem.

THE STORY: During the attack on the gendarmerie at Sennou, Captain Billon, the commander, is seriously wounded. The attack is repulsed, but the besieged Europeans are still in danger.

XVIII

Billon was lying where he had fallen, breathing heavily. Allan and two constables carried him downstairs to the first floor, where they put him on a heap of blankets. He was looking pale and his eyes were shut; but he was conscious. Dr. Giraud, the dispenser and Mollie, all came in at Allan's summons.

"All's well so far," he said to Billon to cheer him up; and he opened his eyes.

"Thanks to you, Colonel," he said painfully. "But don't think it is all over; keep watch."

"Is he b'd?" asked Mollie, as Allan went to the door.

"I've no idea. Were you frightened, my dear?"

"Not nearly as much as I thought I was going to be. Down here it all sounded exactly as you said it would, and that made it all right."

"There are probably a lot of enemy wounded out in the garden. Not 'emeny'—Seknouga. Try and get something organized for them with the nuns. But look out, because sometimes these sort of people go on fighting after they're wounded. Get the nuns and Dr. What's-her-name to make preparations, and after daylight we'll sort them all out."

There were two very slight wounds among the constables on top of the house, and Allan sent them down to report to Dr. Giraud, get their wounds dressed, and come back. The Mufatish came up to report that there were no casualties on the ground floor, and that he was sending round bags of clips with replenishments of ammunition.

Allan prevailed on Brisebarre to pick up Billon's megaphone; which had fallen on the other side of the parapet when he fell, and to shout across in Berber a proclamation, by order of Captain Billon, to the effect that the dead and wounded might be taken away, under conditions of truce. There was no acknowledgment; but after a short pause some men came forward to do the office. Allan was unwilling to show himself, but he looked covertly over the parapet to see what like people they were up against. They were mostly, but not all, young men; some were in native, some in European dress.

He reckoned that there were close on 30 either killed or unable to move without help. It seemed a lamentably high figure, but Brisebarre assured him that considering how many men had taken part in the charge (so far as he could see in the dim light) the figure was not high in comparison.

Allan could not find it in his heart to go past the door of the room where Billon was lying without going in to see how he was. It was now nearly half an hour since he had seen him. He opened the door quietly, and saw that he was being attended by Dr. Giraud, the dispenser and the middle-aged nun.

"How is he?" asked Allan.

"Pretty bad, I'm afraid," said Mollie; she was nearly in tears at last. "The bullet passed right through his abdomen from left to right; it was lodged in his great-

...tumorous" abdomen.

Senate Rejects Move to Save FEPC Measure

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The Senate Tuesday defeated a move to save a fair employment practices bill.

The Senate Industry Committee
two weeks ago had voted a recommendation that the bill "do not pass." Supporters of the bill Tuesday sought to override the committee vote and thus save the bill from the automatic death that goes with such a recommendation.

But the move got only 21 favorable votes, with 18 votes against.
Nineteen Republican senators and 1
Democrat did not vote.

The bill would have set up a Fair Employment Practices Commission to administer the law which would ban discrimination on the basis of color, religion or ancestry in employment.

The House Industry Committee has approved a similar bill, but the Senate action apparently doomed the chances of FEPC legislation this session.

Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman left the rostrum as presiding officer of the Senate to speak in support of the bill.

Chapman said President Eisenhower and Gov. William G. Stratton were on record in support of
for the "Good Neighbor" club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Clifford Hafford, chairman, has asked that roll call be answered with,
"How I Met My Husband."

Mrs. Edgar Thompson has been in the Ferrell hospital in Eldorado since Saturday. He is reported to be very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood had the following Mother's Day guests: Mrs. Anna Quick and Mrs.
Grace Limerick of Galatia, Mr.
and Mrs. Horace Quick of Akron,
Ohio, and a twin son, Leland
Lockwood and his family from Mt. Vernon. The other twin, Leland Lockwood of Pontiac, Mich.,
his wife and daughter, Sandra,
visited by long distance telephone.

Mary Margaret Small and Patricia Karnes were guests of Wilma Hamby of Mitchellville Saturday.

Mrs. Fanno Bledig will be hostess for the Galatia Home Bureau unit at 1 p. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. A. J. Droit will be hostess as far as one year. Those who receive an application and wish further information or assistance in completing it are urged to visit the district office located at 338
Missouri Avenue, East St. Louis,
Ill., any week day Monday through Friday.

equal opportunity for all citizens and that "we as representatives will be subject to criticism if we fail to follow the lead and the mandate of the voters of Illinois."

Sen. Fred J. Smith (D-Chicago),
the only Negro in the Senate, pleaded for support of the bill and and "there is absolutely nothing in this bill offensive to business or management." In fact, he said,
"frankly, this is very weak bill."

Smith pointed out that at the last two legislative sessions, the House has passed an FEPC bill only to see it defeated in the Senate. The issue, he said, was "whether you are for fair play or against it."

The bill would have set up a

High school state championships will be decided in three spring sports this weekend at the University of Illinois.

District champions in track, golf and tennis meet Friday and Saturday at the U. of I. to do battle for state honors.

And for the spectators there will be some intercollegiate events. Illinois meets Northwestern in a dual track and field meet Saturday morning and in the afternoon Illinois and Michigan play a Big Ten tennis match.

High school tennis and golf play starts Friday at 10 a. m. and track and field preliminaries get underway Friday at 1 p. m.

Golf finals will be played at 8:30 a. m. Saturday. Tennis semifinals and finals start at 9 Saturday morning. Track and field championships are listed for 1 p. m. Saturday.

The first state track and field meet was held in 1893 and with the exception of two World War I years—1917 and 1918—the meet has been held each year to date.

And only three times have teams from the area known as Little Egypt copped the crown.

From 1914 to 1925 inclusive the meet was held in two divisions—Class A and Class B. In 1916 Harrisburg took the Class B crown and in 1926 Marion took first honors in Class B. In 1925 Eldorado tied with Danville for Class A honors.

This is a far cry from the many basketball championships to come to Little Egypt.
